

Registration of family of models for appliance:

With effect from 1st May 2015, online registration for family of models under single application id has been enabled. Therefore the applicants are allowed to register the child model under base model in the single application provided, the technical parameters of child model shall remain same as base model.

2. In such case, during registration the applicant have to submit the test report for base model & the same test report shall be considered for child model as well. However, the production data & labelling fee of base & child model needs to be submitted separately.

3. In future, applicants shall not be allowed to add child model(s) under an already registered base model and in such case the applicants have to apply separately.

4. If a child model is registered under a base model, then the same child model cannot be registered under different base model and in such case, both the applications shall not considered.

(Saurabh Diddi)
Energy Economist 11/5/15